

COMEDIC MONOLOGUES

“Pleasing”

(An innocent looking redheaded girl, mid twenties, is standing with her arms crossed, wearing nothing but an Aerosmith t-shirt)

“Are you seriously doing this right now? Seriously. You’re acting like I cheated on you or something? It’s a vibrator, Dan. You found me lying in bed using my vibrator. You didn’t find me banging one of your friends or using some hoagie-sized black dildo. No. You found me in my room listening to Aerosmith with BOB in between my legs. Now I didn’t give the vibrator that name because I fantasize about a guy named Bob. No, it’s stands for Battery Operated Boyfriend and it’s just the name of the product.

Now, am I saying that you shouldn’t act surprised? No. Finding out that your girlfriend masturbates to Aerosmith can be surprising. And I wouldn’t be surprised if you were probably thinking right now something like “What did I do to cause this?” or “She probably is doing this because I’m Asian” or something like that. Well guess what Dan? You’re right! I’m doing it because of all of those things! And you want to know why? (PAUSE) BECAUSE I LOVE HAVING SEX WITH YOU! You make me love having sex with you so much, that you make me want to have sex with myself. And by doing so, I can become better in touch with myself, which allows me to become better in touch with you, which allows the both of us to become better in touch with each other. Many couples support it Dan because it’s a hands on approach to a healthier relationship. Masturbation shouldn't be taboo. It should be embraced, it should be celebrated and if you don’t agree with that, well, you’re a hypocrite. I mean, let’s be honest Dan- your penis looks like a boomerang because of how much you masturbate. I don’t know, maybe that’s rude of me to say but I just thought I’d throw that out there just to show you how sensitive this topic is to me.

Look, I’m going to kindly say this for the first and last time, OK? This is for US. Not just for ME or “HER”, it’s for US. And in order for it to stay about us, I’ll need you to get off my back about me, well, getting off on my back. OK?(PAUSE) Now, sweetie, (SINCERELY SPEAKING) can you please give it to me? (PAUSE) No Dan, not you! The vibrator!

“Happy to See You”

(An attractive guy, mid twenties, is standing in a state of panic with his pants by his ankles, wearing a tight v-neck and a pair of boxers. His hands are covering his crotch)

“Angela, listen. Don’t get freaked out. A boner is not a bad thing. It’s a compliment. A way that my body tells me it likes something. Think of it as a thumb’s up to you. Right?”

Ok look...this has been a problem for me since childhood. For some reason, I would just get random boners all the time. While I was getting breast-fed...BONER, receiving communion BONER or singing the national anthem in my uniform, at my homecoming football game. People still refer to me as the Star Spangled BONER guy.

So despite how hard I had it back then let’s talk about now, OK? You and me and the two options you have here. One, you can continue to stare at it. Or two you can, you know... make sex with it. (BIG PAUSE) Or you can run away! That wasn’t an option! (PAUSE) Thumb down.